To: Yachats city council

I love that people in Yachats work to create an even better healthier self sufficient dynamic town! As a community member, a business owner and chamber representative I am sending this letter to voice my concerns over the proposal to use space in the commons for a health clinic. Our community center is a place for all kinds of community activities and I applaud the efforts of the city representatives and community members who have made this a viable economically stable diverse facility.

Providing space to a health clinic is a conflict of interest for the city. Providing rental space for a business when other space is available creates unfair competition. I believe there are laws that address this issue.

Utilizing a space in the commons for a long term rental takes away from its ability to be utilized for multiple community functions: art fairs, music festivals, physic fairs etc.

The commons is an integral part of the business community. If provides an outlet for multiple events all year long that complement and enhance our local business. With the addition of the bank building these opportunities could expand several fold and bring monies to all businesses and thereby city coffers as well. A health clinic is a business and should be treated as such. If there were no options available then it would make sense for the city to offer the option of using a city facility. As it stands there are options. It would be irresponsible and unethical to provide space in the commons at this time to a health clinic.

Lots of love to you all Linda Hetzler

Subject: June 2016 Status Report

This month was dedicated to conduct two events related to the Cascadia Rising event. One event was a table top exercise in support of LCSO while developing some guiding principles for shared responsibility when YRFPD and City of Yachats must work together on a disaster situation. The other event was conducting an evacuation drill based on a 9.0 earthquake which created a local Tsunami. The evacuation drill was a joint effort by the City and YRFPD.

Included in this report are the results of the survey completed by 40% of the 174 people who participated in the drill. Six pets also made the trip with their owners.

A special thanks goes to the Seal Rock CERT Team for their support during the excersize. ODOT, LCSO, and OSP were also part of the team which helped insure the safety of those who participated in this drill.

The Emergency Planning Committee plans to use the collected information along with comments received to recommend additional evacuation signage, possible Tsunami map changes, and better marking of assembly areas.

Upcoming work:

- Need to renew Storm Ready/Tsunami Ready certificate for review by FEMA in August.
- Add new Appendix for the Emergency Plan covering working relationship between City and YRFPD.
- Recommendations on any potential signage improvements.
- Complete work on the updated Appendixes for the Emergency Plan from the last table top.
- Begin draft of Emergency Debris Management Plan for Yachats.
- Use the logs from the slide to prepare a FEMA form.

WHEREAS, the City is an Oregon home-rule municipal corporation under the Oregon Constitution and Section 4 of the Yachats Charter provides:

"The city has all powers that the constitutions, statutes and common law of the United States and Oregon expressly or impliedly grant or allow the city, as fully as though this charter specifically enumerated each of those powers."

WHEREAS, ORS 475B.345 allows the City of Yachats to impose a local tax of up to 3% on retail sales of recreational marijuana items within the City if the local tax is approved by the voters of the City at general election; and

WHEREAS, the Yachats City Council desires to impose a tax of up to 3% on the sale of recreational marijuana items by marijuana retailers in the City,

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY OF YACHATS RESOLVES AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. A city election is called for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of the City of Yachats an ordinance imposing a city tax of up to three percent (3%) on sales of marijuana items by licensed recreational marijuana retailers within the City of Yachats, a copy of which is attached to this Resolution as Exhibit A and incorporated into this Resolution by reference.

Section 2. The ballot title for this measure shall be as follows:

CAPTION: City tax on recreational marijuana retailers' sale of marijuana items

QUESTION: Shall Yachats impose a tax on sales of marijuana items by recreational marijuana retailers in the city?

The City Council would have the authority to set the amount of the tax, but under no circumstances would the tax exceed three percent of the retail sales price of a marijuana item. The tax would be collected from consumers by recreational marijuana retailers at the point of sale. Recreational marijuana retailers would remit the tax to the City. The city tax would be imposed in addition to any state taxes on the sale of marijuana items. The city tax would not be imposed on medical marijuana sales.

Section 3. The City Council orders this City election to be held in the City of Yachats, Oregon, concurrently with the general election, on the 8th day of November, 2016, in accordance with the provisions of ORS Chapter 254. 1. PURPOSE AND SCOPE

This policy establishes guidance and procedures to protect and maintain safe indoor environmental quality (IEQ) and guidelines for reporting and investigating complaints. This policy applies to all CDC¹ workers (employees, contractors, guest researchers, etc.) at all CDC facilities, both leased and owned, and all CDC work areas including animal facilities.

2. BACKGROUND

Indoor environmental quality concerns relate to air quality and other environmental factors (lighting, cleanliness, etc.) in office workplaces. CDC is committed to providing all CDC workers a safe place of employment, and will take actions to keep the workplace free of recognized hazards. When possible, the agency will take steps to eliminate or materially reduce recognized workplace hazards.

The goal of this policy is to: promote and protect the health and well being of CDC personnel, contractors, and visitors; prevent work-related injury and illness; prevent harm to and pollution of the environment; and ensure compliance with all applicable federal, state, and local regulations.

The goal for safe IEQ is an on-going and high priority CDC commitment. This policy provides a clear statement of CDC management's commitment to implement and continually improve a comprehensive and effective health, safety and environmental protection program.

3. POLICY

CDC strives to maintain indoor environmental quality standards that protect the health of workers. This policy establishes guidance and procedures to protect and maintain safe IEQ and for reporting and investigating complaints. Specific guidance is provided in the appendix "Indoor Environmental Quality Guidelines." All CDC facilities (leased or owned) are subject to this policy and the major components are identified below:

A. Prevention and Management of IEQ Concerns During Construction and Renovation Projects

Key factors must be assessed by the Office of Health and Safety (OHS) and/or local Safety Officer and the Buildings and Facilities Office (BFO) during a renovation or construction project.

B. Building Operation and Maintenance
CDC and the BFO commits to operating and maintaining CDC's owned and leased facilities using best practices that cause minimal interruption to workers and protect them from hazards.

C. Building Occupants
It is important that personnel be aware that the use of some personal care products may have detrimental effects on the health of chemically sensitive co-workers. Personal care products (colognes, perfumes, essential oils and scented skin and hair products) should not be brought into, used, or otherwise applied at or near actual workstations, in restrooms, or anywhere in CDC facilities.

D. Communication Information must be communicated among all affected parties in a timely manner relating to materials used in buildings (e.g., cleaning supplies, chemicals, personal care products), and maintenance activities that may potentially affect air quality so that preventive measures can be taken in advance. At least five (5) working days notice must be normally given before construction and maintenance activities are undertaken or new chemicals introduced.

E. Evaluation of IEQ Concerns

Building occupants who experience irritation or symptoms that may be related to the quality of indoor air should notify their supervisors, and the OHS or local Safety Officer to initiate a complaint. BFO must also be contacted upon initiation of a complaint, to identify and/or review any potential structural, maintenance, or heating, ventilating or air conditioning (HVAC) issues. Building occupants must also complete the Indoor Air Quality Questionnaire (see Attachment B) in order to properly document the complaint. Each IEQ complaint poses a unique set of circumstances that will determine the investigative procedures used to resolve each IEQ concerns.

4. RESPONSIBILITIES

A. Office of Health and Safety/Designated Safety Officer Administers the Indoor Environmental Quality Program and serves as the primary coordinator and investigator for reported incidents involving IEQ hazards or conditions; educates CDC supervisors and workers; develops report findings and recommendations for corrective action; and reviews and updates to meet future needs and regulatory changes.

B. Occupational Health Clinic Conducts medical evaluations as required and contacts OHS to initiate investigation of reported health problems related to the work environment. FROM: Hannah Hickey

Scented consumer products shown to emit many unlisted chemicals

The sweet smell of fresh laundry may contain a sour note. Widely used fragranced products – including those that claim to be "green" – give off many chemicals that are not listed on the label, including some that are classified as toxic.

A study led by the University of Washington discovered that 25 commonly used scented products emit an average of 17 chemicals each. Of the 133 different chemicals detected, nearly a quarter are classified as toxic or hazardous under at least one federal law. Only one emitted compound was listed on a product label, and only two were publicly disclosed anywhere. The article is published online today in the journal Environmental Impact Assessment Review.

"We analyzed best-selling products, and about half of them made some claim about being green, organic, or natural," said lead author Anne Steinemann, a UW professor of civil and environmental engineering and of public affairs. "Surprisingly, the green products' emissions of hazardous chemicals were not significantly different from the other products."

More than a third of the products emitted at least one chemical classified as a probable carcinogen by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and for which the EPA sets no safe exposure level.

Manufacturers are not required to disclose any ingredients in cleaning supplies, air fresheners or laundry products, all of which are regulated by the Consumer Product Safety Commission. Neither these nor personal care products, which are regulated by the Food and Drug Administration, are required to list ingredients used in fragrances, even though a single "fragrance" in a product can be a mixture of up to several hundred ingredients, Steinemann said.

So Steinemann and colleagues have used chemical sleuthing to discover what is emitted by the scented products commonly used in homes, public spaces and workplaces.

The study analyzed air fresheners including sprays, solids and oils; laundry products including detergents, fabric softeners and dryer sheets; personal care products such as soaps, hand sanitizers, lotions, deodorant and shampoos; and cleaning products including disinfectants, all-purpose sprays and dish detergent. All were widely used brands, with more than half being the top-selling product in its category.

Researchers placed a sample of each product in a closed glass container at room temperature and then analyzed the surrounding air for volatile organic compounds, small molecules that evaporate off a product's surface. They detected chemical concentrations ranging from 100 micrograms per cubic meter (the minimum value reported) to more than 1.6 million micrograms per cubic meter.

The most common emissions included limonene, a compound with a citrus scent; alphapinene and beta-pinene, compounds with a pine scent; ethanol; and acetone, a solvent found in nail polish remover.

All products emitted at least one chemical classified as toxic or hazardous. Eleven products emitted at least one probable carcinogen according to the EPA. These included acetaldehyde, 1,4-dioxane, formaldehyde and methylene chloride.

The only chemical listed on any product label was ethanol, and the only additional substance listed on a chemical safety report, known as a material safety data sheet, was 2-butoxyethanol.

"The products emitted more than 420 chemicals, collectively, but virtually none of them were disclosed to consumers, anywhere," Steinemann said.

Because product formulations are confidential, it was not possible to determine whether a chemical came from the product base, the fragrance added to the product, or both.

Tables included with the article list all chemicals emitted by each product and the associated concentrations, although do not disclose the products' brand names.

"We don't want to give people the impression that if we reported on product 'A' and they buy product 'B,' that they're safe," Steinemann said. "We found potentially hazardous chemicals in all of the fragranced products we tested."

The study establishes the presence of various chemicals but makes no claims about the possible health effects. Two national surveys published by Steinemann and a colleague in 2009 found that about 20 percent of the population reported adverse health effects from air fresheners, and about 10 percent complained of adverse effects from laundry products vented to the outdoors. Among asthmatics, such complaints were roughly twice as common.

The Household Product Labeling Act, currently being reviewed by the U.S. Senate, would require manufacturers to list ingredients in air fresheners, soaps, laundry supplies and other consumer products. Steinemann says she is interested in fragrance mixtures, which are included in the proposed labeling act, because of the potential for unwanted exposure, or what she calls "secondhand scents."

As for what consumers who want to avoid such chemicals should do in the meantime, Steinemann suggests using simpler options such as cleaning with vinegar and baking soda, opening windows for ventilation, and using products without any fragrance.

"In the past two years, I've received more than 1,000 e-mails, messages, and telephone calls from people saying: 'Thank you for doing this research, these products are making me sick, and now I can start to understand why,'" Steinemann said.

Steinemann is currently a visiting professor in civil and environmental engineering at Stanford University. Co-authors are Ian MacGregor and Sydney Gordon at Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, Ohio; Lisa Gallagher, Amy Davis and Daniel Ribeiro at the UW; and Lance Wallace, retired from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. The research was partially funded by Seattle Public Utilities.

Scented laundry products emit hazardous chemicals through dryer vents

The same University of Washington researcher who used chemical sleuthing to deduce what's in fragranced consumer products now has turned her attention to the scented air wafting from household laundry vents.

Findings, published online this week in the journal Air Quality, Atmosphere and Health, show that air vented from machines using the top-selling scented liquid laundry detergent and scented dryer sheet contains hazardous chemicals, including two that are classified as carcinogens.

"This is an interesting source of pollution because emissions from dryer vents are essentially unregulated and unmonitored," said lead author Anne Steinemann, a UW professor of civil and environmental engineering and of public affairs. "If they're coming out of a smokestack or tail pipe, they're regulated, but if they're coming out of a dryer vent, they're not."

The research builds on earlier work that looked at what chemicals are released by laundry products, air fresheners, cleaners, lotions and other fragranced consumer products.

Manufacturers are not required to disclose the ingredients used in fragrances, or in laundry products.

For the new study, which focuses on chemicals emitted through laundry vents, researchers first purchased and pre-rinsed new, organic cotton towels. They asked two homeowners to volunteer their washers and dryers, cleaned the inside of the machines with vinegar, and ran full cycles using only water to eliminate as much residue as possible.

At the first home, they ran a regular laundry cycle and analyzed the vent fumes for three cases: once with no products, once with the leading brand of scented liquid laundry detergent, and finally with both the detergent and a leading brand of scented dryer sheets. A canister placed inside the dryer vent opening captured the exhaust 15 minutes into each drying cycle.

Researchers then repeated the procedure with a different washer and dryer at a second home.

Analysis of the captured gases found more than 25 volatile organic compounds, including seven hazardous air pollutants, coming out of the vents. Of those, two chemicals – acetaldehyde and benzene – are classified by the Environmental Protection Agency as carcinogens, for which the agency has established no safe exposure level.

"These products can affect not only personal health, but also public and environmental health. The chemicals can go into the air, down the drain and into water bodies," Steinemann said.

The researchers estimate that in the Seattle area, where the study was conducted, acetaldehyde emissions from this brand of laundry detergent would be equivalent to 3 percent of the total acetaldehyde emissions coming from automobiles. Emissions from the top five brands, they estimate, would constitute about 6 percent of automobiles' acetaldehyde emissions.

"We focus a lot of attention on how to reduce emissions of pollutants from automobiles," Steinemann said. "And here's one source of pollutants that could be reduced."

The project's website also includes letters from the public reporting health effects from scented consumer products. Steinemann says that people's reports of adverse reactions to fragranced air coming from laundry vents motivated her to conduct this study.

Steinemann recommends using laundry products without any fragrance or scent.
