

Rom, Parks+Commons, to whom it may concern

It is refreshing to see the Commons introducing fragrance free guidelines.

Altho Yachats population generally has high awareness of lower use of fragrances, putting it in form creates reliable access to workshops, classes, events, meetings.

A policy gives a basis + opportunity for ongoing practice, education and guidance of decisions by all users of the Commons.

Notices, website postings, flyers, Commons brags, etc. all become easily doable and simplified backed by ^{such} a support statement. A for instance: "Thank you for coming fragrance free to this event." posted at the bottom of each notice as a visible and friendly reminder.

As you already know, but many people don't, the chemical fragrances are detrimental to systemic health + breathing. It is a health safety practice - to many humans they are highly detrimental - and is a great courtesy, to limit exposure and increase access to common spaces,

Thank you.
